Dear General Tighe:

As Chairman of the National Foreign Intelligence Board, I want to express my gratitude to you personally and to your staff for the advice and assistance provided to me.

You have been a most able representative of the views of the Department of Defense. Moreover, you have considered vital national security issues from a truly national point of view. This attitude has contributed to the objectivity and integrity of our national foreign intelligence estimating process.

I take this opportunity to wish you well in the days ahead.

Sincerely,

Remarks:

Attached are letters of appreciation for the NFIB and CFI principals and the DCI Committee Chairmen together with a few other individuals. All of the letters are "nonsubstantive" except the one to Malcolm Currie which does comment on the IR&DC Annual Report and its recommendations.

The DCI asked that these all be dated 17 January 1977.
